

FROM THE CAPITAL

THE INTELLIGENCER has not been able to learn that "six generally vote the Republican ticket," and, therefore, infers that there are [not] the facts in the case. If a good friend has not been able to make out similar discoveries in the Board of Regents, the governing body which is responsible for our Latin professors, who ought to be in an institution for the instruction of young men, and for the general culture which pervades that institution. We are going to assure the Herald that the INTELLIGENCER has no desire to injure the University; we desire to see it get a fresh start; that it may have a fair chance to live; and that down the Herald think the INTELLIGENCER would gain if it could destroy the University?

At the first he had been afraid upon the President, as a reason for dropping the case, that experience would find him and the fact that he had become fully acquainted with the Government case, he would leave the office, and give his influence to the other side. After Cook did leave, and the connection of his partner with the defense became one of the scandals of the case. It can be determined upon the authority of the prominent person who was at one of the meetings at which Cook took an interest in President Garfield's consultation with him, that Cook was in no sense a principal; that the President neither asked him for his views nor his advice, and gave him no instructions whatever. It was the Attorney General who was behind the scenes. Several of his friends, who were in the President's confidence, were of the opinion that the President's attempt of Cook to make it appear that the case was to have the management of the defense is nothing new, and public attention was called to the same effort on his part as my successor, duly and canonically appointed and consecrated, paternal care of my household, Mrs. Ann Marr, who has been for twenty years my faithful and strictly conscientious in the discharge of her duties, and also to the other persons, John Scally, &c., who have chosen to live for their food and raiment in the service of religion in my household. I have also named as my successor in favor of August Rev. Martin J. Spalding, Bishop of Louisville, Ky., his heirs and assigns, or, if he should die before me, in favor of Right Rev. Peter Paul Le Fevere, Bishop of Detroit, Mich. Either will know of his property, and will be bound by the property to my successors, canonically appointed and consecrated.

Archbishop, Cincinnati.

Attest,
New York, July 5.—Colene J. Armour Knox, of the Texas States, and one of the principals of the impending duel, left town at 6.30 this morning, accompanied by his second, H. F. McMorroth. He left word with the hotel that he would go down to Hull-mor-fow. Nothing could be learned in regard to the whereabouts of D. B. Sheahan. He is supposed to be in New York. Probably the meeting will take place to-day in the vicinity of Hoboken.

CHURCH TROUBLE.
Bishop McLaren's Epistle to Rev. Arthur Ritchie—The Extremist Ritual.
 Chicago, July 5.—Bishop McLaren, of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, has addressed a letter to the parish church of the Church of the Ascension of this city, decided over by the Rev. Arthur Ritchie, answer to one sent him one week ago. A controversy had arisen over the high altar observed by the pastor of Ascension, and which apparently induced the bishop at the late diocesan convention, to announce his views upon the matter. The Rev. Ritchie recently received a letter from the bishop, in which the bishop to the Bishop urged him not to accept it, and, in addition, proceeded to discuss the question of ritual. The Bishop responds in a mild tone, and expresses almost a conciliatory solicitation for both pastor and parish, but asserts that the order of solemnization when there is no communion is the order of the church of the Ascension, is not the order of the administration of the Lord's Supper, or Holy Communion, as set forth in the Book of Common Prayer. It is, kind, Miss. a gang of roughs, after trying drunk, started a disturbance in the line in what was returning. Jesse Hacker, who had been drinking, was immediately rebuffed by Tom Lyle, and was immediately rebuffed by Lyle's brother. The latter appeared.

Two children of James Mulhern, six and eight years of age, at Joliet, Ill., were left the house alone for a short time yesterday, and during the absence of the parents the house took fire. It is supposed from the evidence, and the children were burned to death.

The ballot for U. S. Senator yesterday, at Concord, N. H., was as follows: Whole number, 274; necessary for a choice, 138.

Wm. M. Shad, 1; Jeremiah Smith, 1; Charles Bartlett, 2; Charles H. Burno, 2; Cronin, 1; William M. Moxley, 14; Aaron Weaver, 16; James F. Briggs, 30; James Patterson, 28; Edward H. Rollins, 38; Harry Bingham, 62.

The two days' bicycle contest between Juana Armando and Maggie Wallace, at Chicago, was concluded last night. Miss Wallace won the contest by a large margin. The only feature of the contest was the fact that Juana Armando during the last twelve hours, making any known record for that time, surpassed 1494 miles, with five minutes spare. Her record for the two days is 27 miles.

has been alienated from us, not because the Germans were either disgusted by the party or are fickle, but because they did not understand the position of the Republicans on certain questions. The result of this was that many severely felt in the spring elections of '82. Its return did plainly be discerned last fall, and I believe the coming election will find the party at the head of the parade. It is the duty of the Germans voting again this time.

THE STRONG POINT.

The Teuton is too shrewd a man to pay a prohibitive tax on his house, in order that his neighbor's saloon may go untaxed. The strong point, I repeat, of the Republicans, is the Scott law. It is a wise conservative statement of the liquor question. It is a law that will grow in popularity as its merits become better known. Upon this law, I take it, the party should make its fight. It should be the last of the kind. If it is not, it would be fatal. There is nothing in it that requires even a semblance of an apology, and its advocacy should be bold, outspoken even to aggressiveness.

It is hardly to be expected that a candidate as broad and progressive as He is bright and brilliant, but not sound. His eccentricities

The speech of Parnell at the banquet at Cork last evening, in connection with the Industrial Exhibition, was non-political in tone. He said he believed that in the Exhibition was seen a hopeful sign of the revival of Irish industries.

The number of deaths from cholera at Dublin, during the last 24 hours, was 11. At 5 o'clock yesterday morning was 111. There were forty-three deaths at Mallow, four at Shribin and Samanoud during the same time from cholera.

The Duke of Marlborough died of cardiac syncope yesterday. He was sixty-two years old. His death was very sudden. He was slightly indisposed yesterday, but dined with his family at the usual hour, and retired apparently well. He was found dead on the floor of his room yesterday morning.

The King of Saxony, who is making a tour, was yesterday about to ascend in the balloon of the Count de Tschichow at Milan, when the weight attached to the car fell, killing the Governor of the district, who was accompanying His Majesty. The King, who had entered the balloon, was thrown out, and suffered the electric shock. The accident happened, when he was overcome, and abandoned his tour.

A Just Judgment.

HINDUSTON, N. Y., July 5.—The Rev. J. Schmelz, of the reformed Church of Hildicon, New York; was charged with too much drinking, and later on with making poor advances to a half-witted girl in congregation. He disappeared, but on Monday last came back and started to drive to Thurmanville, Pa. Next morning he was found dead by the roadside. His death is thought to be the result of hard drink.
